YUKON

Canada's Best Kept Secret!

Unique, pristine, rugged and stunning — these words may immediately come to mind when you think of Yukon. But what about sophisticated, cosmopolitan and progressive?

As Yukoners, we are proud of our spectacular environment, crystal clear lakes, soaring glaciers and rugged mountain peaks. We have early snow in fall and endless, warm light in summer. Our forests abound with wildlife while our wilderness stretches for hundreds of miles without a fence, house or even a telephone line to mar the shot.

Yukoners are equally proud of our hotels and inns, restaurants, services and facilities. We offer vehicle and equipment rentals including trucks, snow mobiles, aircraft and cranes. Our crew are experienced, enthusiastic and accustomed to working in wilderness and cold conditions. They are creative and innovative, offering solutions to a myriad of technical and logistical challenges.

Our film incentive programs are second to none. We offer rebates, rather than tax credits, that are normally paid within weeks rather than months or years following final reporting.

For spectacular scenery, all the amenities you would expect of a small city, comprehensive rebates and hard-working crew with a rugged, entrepreneurial spirit, we invite you to think YUKON for your next film project!

In summer, we enjoy near 24-hour daylight, creating the lasting magic hour. During winter, you'll find those reliable snow conditions so sought after by filmmakers.

Yukon Film Incentive Programs

Canada's Yukon is known as a film-friendly region, and we're willing to back up that claim with financial support as we invite your production to take advantage of Yukon's spectacular locations.

We offer the following financial incentives to eligible productions:

Film Location Incentive

The Film Location Incentive encourages production companies from outside Yukon to film in Yukon and to hire and train Yukoners. There are three components to this incentive program.

Yukon Spend Rebate

Television programs, television movies (Movies of the Week), documentaries and feature films (but not commercials) are eligible for a rebate of up to 25% of Yukon spend, provided criteria are met.

Training Program

Productions (not commercials) are eligible for a rebate of up to 25% of wages paid to individuals providing on-set training (techniques and equipment) to eligible Yukon labour.

Travel Rebate

(Available to productions not accessing the Yukon Spend Rebate)

Commercial and documentary productions are eligible for a 50% rebate on travel costs to a maximum of $10,000 or 10% of all Yukon expenditures, whichever is the lesser.

Television programs, television movies (Movies of the Week) and feature film productions are eligible for a 50% rebate of travel costs to a maximum of $15,000 or 15% of Yukon expenditures that are not assisted under any other portion of the Yukon Film Incentive Program, whichever is the lesser.

Film Production Fund

Up to $500,000/project is available to Yukon corporations that financially and creatively control projects to assist with the costs of producing a film in Yukon. For the purposes of this Fund, production is defined as the period of time during which the project is being captured on film or videotape. Applicants are required to have marketplace support in the form of a broadcast license indicating a commitment by a licensed broadcaster to participate financially in the production or distribution of the project.

For productions solely controlled by a Yukon resident or corporation, the contributions will be based on 30% of Yukon expenditures or 30% of total production costs, whichever is the lesser.

For co-productions, the contribution will be based on 30% of Yukon expenditures or 20% of total production costs, whichever is the lesser.

Film Development Fund

Up to 50% of actual Yukon expenditures to a maximum of $35,000 or 33% of total project expenses (whichever is the lesser) is available to Yukon residents or Yukon corporations to assist with the costs of development of film projects in Yukon. The applicant is required to have marketplace support in the form of either a broadcast development agreement or a distribution arrangement.

An additional $10,000 may be available to an applicant if the broadcaster/distributor requires senior personnel who are not available in Yukon to be associated with the project.

Film Training Initiative

Up to $3,000/person/year is available to Yukon residents for training for a career in film. Applicants must demonstrate a commitment to a career in this field (such as significant recent coursework and/or work experience). Yukon-based industry organizations are also eligible to apply for funding to provide film-specific coursework.

Yukon Filmmakers Fund

Up to $8,000/applicant is available to Yukon resident film and video professionals to assist them in developing viable careers and businesses making films and videos for broadcast or commercial release. Two intakes per year are offered — June 1 and December 1.

Note:

The production company MUST BE PRE-APPROVED based on anticipated production arrangements. Application forms are available on our website at www.reelyukon.com.

Canadian Film or Video Production Tax Credit (CPTC)

The objective of the CPTC is to encourage Canadian programming and to develop an active domestic production sector. This fully refundable credit is available at the rate of 25% of the qualified labour expenditure of an eligible production.

Full details are available online:
www.pch.gc.ca/cavco/

Film or Video Production Services Tax Credit (PSTC)

The PSTC is designed to enhance Canada as a location of choice for film and video productions employing talented Canadians, as well as strengthen the industry and secure investment. The PSTC is available at a rate of 16% of qualified Canadian labour expenditures.

Full details are available online:

Goods and Services Tax

Yukon does NOT have a provincial sales tax; however, all of Canada has the Goods and Services Tax (GST).

GST is a federal tax that applies at a rate of 5% to most goods and services bought in Canada. GST is charged by the supplier and may be refundable from the Canada Revenue Agency.

You may be entitled to claim a rebate to recover the GST you paid on certain goods and services.

CANADA'S YUKON

A place where nature works on a larger scale, where vast ice fields reproduce Antarctica and living towns look like sets.

We are most sought after by filmmakers seeking reliable snow locations. Here you can find winter on your schedule (now there's an appealing thought).

But Yukon is much more than snow locations — you'll find it adaptable, diverse and full of character.

Not to mention picture perfect.

Yukon covers 483,450 square kilometres in the far northwest of mainland Canada. Yukon represents 4.8% of Canada's total land area. It borders British Columbia to the south (latitude 60 N), Northwest Territories to the east and the U.S. state of Alaska to the west (longitude 141 W). To our north is the Beaufort Sea. All Yukon communities are south of the Arctic Circle and are accessible by road except for Old Crow, which is a traditional native community 185 kilometres south of the Arctic coast.

Stay Warm!

Shooting in Yukon this winter? No problem. We're the world's winter film experts! We canvassed Yukon crew and came up with these tips for staying warm.

Dress in Layers.

That way you won't overheat when you're active, and you can easily add extra layers when you are standing around.

Avoid wearing cotton.

Cotton is great summer wear because it helps to cool you off. It does the same thing in winter. Silk, wool or fleece clothing will keep you warm. Add a windproof outer layer and you're set.

It is much easier to stay warm than to warm up.

A common mistake is taking off clothing when you are feeling warm, and then getting a chill. Keep your hat on, and keep taking those hot treats the craft service people are offering. On a really cold day, it's not uncommon to eat a hot snack every hour.

Don't skimp on your boots.

You'll be standing on snow and ice all day, so make sure you thoroughly insulate your feet. Buy the best quality boots you can; there is not a great increase in price when purchasing boots with higher insulating value. If you have boots with removable liners, don't forget to remove the liners every night to ensure they are completely dry for the next morning. Moisture draws heat from the body and, for that reason, wool or fabrics with a wicking property make the best socks in cold weather. Layers are good but don't forget to leave a bit of insulating air space in your boots; tight boots are cold boots. If you find you always have cold feet and hands, you probably need more layers around your body core.

Dehydration will chill you.

Working in our sometimes cold, dry climate can leave you parched. Take the teas and soups that are offered but try not to drink too much coffee or black teas, as they will dehydrate you.

Bring your shades.

A sunny day on the snow is very bright. Use a high number sunblock and a brimmed hat.

Buy locally.

Take advantage of the low Canadian dollar, no territorial sales tax and a plethora of winter clothing stores in Yukon. Our winter clothing prices on brand-name outerwear are priced about 20% lower than Vancouver and half what you would pay in California! Because winter is our strong suit, our stores are stuffed with down, fleece, wool and Gore-Tex®.

Ask the locals!

Remember we're the winter experts. Every one of us has a toasty comfort gem of advice.

Yukon Crew

Yukon crews have staffed productions from documentaries and commercials, to feature films and television series.

The Northern Film and Video Industry Association's membership is made up of a large complement of experienced film crew and service providers. Our members work hard and have the skills to manage production work in extreme environments and weather.

You can view our membership's production credits and resumes online by visiting www.nfvia.com/directory/crewstaff. If you have any questions about staffing your productions, please email or give us a call.

Work Permits for Canada

Hiring foreign workers in film and entertainment can be an important part of making a production or holding a cultural or entertainment event in Canada. The entry of foreign workers in film and entertainment can also bring unique international talent to Canada and support cultural exchange.

In most cases, Canadian employers hiring foreign workers in film and entertainment must get a Human Resources and Social Development Canada (HRSDC) labour market opinion (LMO). The foreign worker also requires a Citizenship and Immigration (CIC) work permit to work in Canada. These conditions are designed to take into account career development and employment opportunities for Canadians.

Allow a four-week lead time for consultations between Human Resources and Social Development Canada (HRSDC), the film and television producers (employers), and the unions and guilds. There is a processing fee of $150 for an employment authorization.

Yukon Workers' Compensation Health and Safety Board

It is essential that production companies understand workers' compensation and occupational health and safety requirements before arriving in Yukon.

There are also requirements for adjacent jurisdictions — British Columbia and the Northwest Territories.

Safety saves and safety pays. While it is your responsibility to comply with laws and regulations, they are just the minimum standards. The best practice is to exceed safety regulations.

Yukon places high importance on the safety of young workers. If you are hiring workers under 25, you are encouraged to become a Passport to Safety employer.

The following are general conditions:

- » You must register with Yukon Workers' Compensation Health and Safety Board if:
 - » You are an employer working in Yukon for a total of 10 (or more) days in a calendar year
 - » You are hiring Yukon workers or contractors.
- » If you are hiring Yukon workers to work in Atlin, B.C. or the White Pass, you will need to contact WorkSafe B.C. at 1-800-925-2233. This is important for both workers' compensation coverage and occupational health and safety requirements.
- » Because of remote locations used for filming, there are minimum standards in Yukon for both First Aid equipment and the certification of First Aid people.

Note:

The Yukon Workers' Compensation Act and Occupational Health and Safety Act and Regulations are at www.wcb.yk.ca under Acts and Regulations.

Once a majority approval has been received, you must apply to the City Manager for an Extension. Other municipalities have similar bylaws.

Territorial Parks

Park permits are required for commercial filming in Yukon Parks (including campgrounds).

Regional Superintendents, located in Dawson City (Klondike Region), Carcross (Liard Region) and Haines Junction (Kluane Region), can review commercial filming applications and, when appropriate, authorize a park permit.

The Tombstone Park management plan, currently under negotiation between Yukon government and the Tr'ondëk Hwëch'in First Nation (THFN), has specific provisions for commercial filming in the park.

While the management plan is under negotiation, the THFN Final Agreement legally binds Yukon government to manage the park according to the park objectives contained in the final agreement. This includes the protection of the area's natural, historic and cultural resources.

By receiving advance word of the basic details of proposed commercial filming activity, Yukon Parks in collaboration with the Tr'ondëk Hwëch'in First Nation can alert your film company of any special conditions such as areas or critical times to avoid.

The following areas have been designated Territorial Parks in Yukon:

- » Tombstone Territorial Park
- » Fishing Branch Ecological Reserve & Ni'inlii'Njik (Fishing Branch) Wilderness Preserve and Habitat Protection Area
- » Herschel Island Territorial Park
- » Coal River Springs Ecological Reserve

More parks will be officially designated under First Nations Land Claims agreements in the future. Please contact the Yukon Parks Branch for the most current information.

Land Use Permits

Yukon has long had a reputation for being an easy place for film producers to work. We're understandably proud of this. In fact, even today Yukon does not require film location permits! However land use permits for certain activities may apply.

We are proud of our pristine, untouched wilderness and our thriving wildlife. We are also proud of our Northern way of life. Yukon residents enjoy a special connection to the land we call home. It's why most of us came to live here and why most of us stay. It's always been that way. Yukon's First Nation peoples have felt that connection for thousands of years and, at their core, feel a spiritual union with the land that has sustained them for generations.

Understandably, Yukoners want to protect our beautiful land for our children and future generations.

Film productions on location in Yukon have always acknowledged this and have recognised that while they are shooting, they become privileged stewards of the land and do their utmost to protect the environment while getting the job done.

For more information, contact the Lands Branch.

Filming Activities within the Highway Right-of-Way

In accordance with the Yukon Highways Act, persons or businesses that wish to perform activities within a highway right-of-way are required to apply for a permit.

- » Highway rights-of-way are defined as the legal surveyed land/area set aside for highways and roads. This area extends beyond the traveled surface.
- » Highways that are not maintained also require permits.
- » The permitting process will involve an assessment of the area, work proposed and a review of the safety concerns associated with that work.
- » Permit applications can take from four to six weeks to process.
- » Proof of insurance must be provided prior to approval. Applicants shall name Government of Yukon as "Additional Insured" on their insurance policy.

Note:

Permit applications and further information can be obtained from the Government of Yukon website.

Filming at Yukon Aerodromes and Airports

Security at Yukon airports is a high priority. If you are considering filming at a Yukon airport or aerodrome it is essential that you get the clearance and/or permission required.

To ensure all safety precautions and appropriate notices are provided to the regulatory agency, Transport Canada, you must contact the Government of Yukon, Department of Highways and Public Works, Aviation Branch, for a permit.

You will be required to secure a permit by entering into a Government of Yukon licence agreement for your activity and you must provide proof of insurance. The agreement covers your liability, explains the airport manager's control, and specifies how, when, where and who is permitted to occupy airport lands. If access is required for either a sterile or restricted area, the aerodrome/airport operator shall ensure that the person requiring access is being escorted by a person who is in possession of a valid restricted area identity card. There may be a cost for this escort.

Note:

Be sure to give yourself sufficient lead time if planning to film at Yukon airports or aerodromes.

MusicYukon

Our member base of about 150 includes a large number of 'hidden degrees', several of them Masters with bases in classical and/or composition even if, on the surface, these members are playing and recording rock. Apart from a deep pool of music always readily available for placement or licensing, MusicYukon has a solid core of people ready to score your project.

MusicYukon was incorporated as RAIYA (Recording Arts Industry — Yukon Association), a not-for-profit Society, in 1998. Its purpose is to advocate for the business training needs of its members and development of the industry as a whole, and also to develop educational programming and mentoring for its entry-level artists. It is run by an Executive Director and part-time contract staff.

Music Yukon is working towards the continued economic growth of the Yukon sound industry, as changes in technology and communication bring new methods of distribution and delivery of recorded products outside Yukon. Its board of directors represents a variety of disciplines within the music industry.

In 2004, the decision was made to change the operating name from RAIYA to MusicYukon to assist in 'branding' product for export. Music Yukon acts as a conduit of information to its members, providing them with direct links from other music industry associations across Canada and internationally. It also contributes to the efforts made by lobby groups on a national level.

LOCATION PHOTOGRAPHY

First snow, last snow... and pure drama in between. Summer or winter, Yukon is a land of adventure.

For wilderness or outdoor adventure settings, few regions surpass Yukon. If your script calls for rivers (frothing white or gently winding), mountains (dizzying precipices or broad slopes), tundra or forests, read "Yukon." Ironically, much of this wilderness is easy to get to; our roads actually do go through the middle of nowhere, giving you affordable access to a wide range of landscapes.

Providing snow locations is a Yukon specialty. Our glaciers have been providing year round snow locations for the past 10,000 years. Our abundance of snow locations coupled with reliable and long lasting snow conditions make Yukon an ideal location for shoots requiring snow.

From small towns to suburbia, from WWII America to wilderness adventure, from Siberia to science fiction, from log cabins to lost gold mines... consider the value that Canada's Yukon could add to your film. We'll be happy to show you options for your consideration and help you determine if this is the right choice for your production.

YUKON FILM ORGANIZATIONS

Yukon film organizations play a vital role in nurturing the growth and continued success of Yukon's film industry.

Our various Yukon-based film organizations undertake activities ranging in focus from industry development of local crew and creative talent to facilitation and support for industry and the presentation of films locally through hosting film festivals.

The Northern Film and Video Industry Association (NFVIA) is working to build a thriving Yukon film industry through supplying trained crew and the infrastructure needed to meet the rigors of professional film production. With a strong and expanding membership, professional rental equipment and solid ties to the business community and the Yukon Film & Sound Commission, NFVIA has a great deal to offer productions and filmmakers in Yukon.

The Yukon Film Society (YFS) is focused on activities that support the presentation of independent and alternative media art works to Yukon audiences and to support the production and distribution of works by Yukon media artists. In addition to providing annual training and career development opportunities for local filmmakers, the Society hosts the annual Available Light Film Festival to present long form documentaries and dramas that focus on northern and Canadian themes.

Through its many activities supporting art education and advancement of the arts, the Klondike Institute of Art and Culture (KIAC) hosts the annual Dawson City Short Film Festival in addition to the offering of residency and fine art programs.

YUKON FIRST NATIONS

The Yukon has 14 First Nations.

As of January 2007, 11 agreements have been settled, and another three are outstanding. Settlement of land claims provides Yukon First Nations with access, rights and obligations to land and resources, and the right to govern their own affairs. It also provides more certainty for the Yukon with respect to land management and resource development, and charts a future for social and political development of the territory.

It's important that film and television productions understand that Yukon land claim agreements have resulted in major changes in land ownership and management in Yukon.

Yukon First Nation Final Agreements contain provisions that address commercial activities on First Nation-owned lands ("Settlement Lands"). A contact list for Yukon First Nations is included on the following pages for your convenience.

Please contact Yukon First Nations for permission to film on lands they own; it is also suggested that First Nations be notified as a courtesy prior to filming on Crown Lands within a First Nation's Traditional Territory.

If you are unsure whether the location you have selected is on First Nation Settlement Land or Crown Land, please contact either the Government of Yukon Lands Branch (a land use permit may be required) or the appropriate First Nation (see map opposite).
